

Junction City Reload: Streamlining Logistics

About

Leading with handshake integrity, Junction City Reload (JCR) is a family-owned rail-served warehouse, distribution, and logistics company located in Junction City, Oregon. JCR comprises 20 acres of storage space for both extended and temporary storage options along I-5, including a 5-acre paved area for handling trucks, containers, and railcars.

JCR manages organizing, executing, and overseeing the smooth and productive movement and storage of goods, services, and associated information from the starting point to the final point of consumption. With their "Driven to Win" value proposition, partnerships with rail carriers allow JCR to expedite shipments and track high-priority railcars.
